

Insight Pharma Services is ISO 27001 certified.

14-03-2017

Last month Insight Pharma Services received the ISO 27001 certificate (information security) for all its services. Information security is incorporated in all our business processes and ensures the security of personal information for our customers.

CEO Wendela Wessels is proud to receive this certification and proud of her company. "It was a big project as all our processes needed to be screened. To us information security is very important, especially now our platforms (e.g. www.meamedica.com) have become so big. It's very comforting to know our security on information adheres to objective business norms."

Pauline Bus (responsible for the ISO 27001 certification): "The certification process encompasses many facets within the company, from access to our company building to our data access. Encryption of data and access based on authorisation are just some of the measures to ensure security. It was challenging at times, but we managed to produce the desired end results. The receipt of the certificate is proof of our success!"

www.meamedica.com is our independent platform that enables our visitors to share experiences in the use of medication with others and enables them to advise each other in medication use. Generating a medical passport is also an available functionality.

The ISO 27001 certification is by no means compulsory. We see it as a valuable addition to our services. To us it is important that our visitors feel safe on our platform and that they are supported by reading and sharing experiences in medication use.
